

Accounts for one thousand six hundred and twenty six years since the start of Time

Malkion's Manly Meet!

I hereby give you a summary of the special accounts that you asked me to take care of. I hope that you find my numbers and figures – sketchy as they are – to be in good order and of service to the County. I have ensured that no mention of these particular figures have entered the main books. It is legal for us to keep certain transactions from the eyes of our fellows, and I have ensured that these fall under that remit. You will find them in the official transactions under the Alftassi account (an amalgam of our names.)

To you Alfredo,

Domiago

Ehilm's Feast

You gave me 20 Kustrian Ducats, 200 dinar and bankery notes for several hundred pennies (notional variation depending on redemption date.) These remained with me into the New Year, where this account begins.

Falerine's Holy Day

Opened a trading front in Borin, under the name of the Orange Trading Company. Investment sealed under the terms and conditions made to me, and disclosed to you in a separate letter.

Three days before Malkonmas

You received the money for the Church, and diverted much of (maybe, 4 coins out of 7) to the Lepers fund. We did not record the exact amount, but you stated I should record the day in case the Church came a looking. Lucky lepers, sir, but we won't be lucky if the Shadow Court ever find out!

A week before Gerid's Feast

Received the box of Black Ducats, which you had me invest in the Tinnery Group in Uton. We set up several avenues for flowing money between them and ourselves.

Messitide, the day after Nomia's Saintly Day

You ordered for the money received from the Counts to be invested in gold bullion, thence to be stored abroad.

Messitide, Rejoicing

Several hundred pennies were sent to me by Baxten. Obviously they could not be stored on the regular ledger so I placed it here.

Aeror, second day of week two

Opened a second trading company in an effort to compensate for the first, using a Tanisorian called Richard Closed to head it. I invested a total of 2,330 pennies in it at the opening stage and then passed handling to a man named Frederico Lutini. As he's paid by one of the County's subsidiary accounts, we'll have no need to record his wages and I've instructed investments to come to me. I shall record the passage of monies in our direction.

Frigidor, two days after Raceen's Feast

The mercenary group was rolled into the Orange Trading Group. I had the alternate trading group purchase several trading clubs – details sent separately – and sold off the stuff we purchased in Drom. I don't think it was going anywhere.

Frigidor, eight days before Zemuron's Holy Day

More money to the Lepers, and the second load of money from the Counts again passed to the bullion store. I suggested we leverage that, but you insisted you use it for your own scheme (which, sir, I would love to know what it was.)

Brumastide, Fourth day of week three

Instructed Richard's Trading Group to purchase Alberto Hooks's group - Hooks Merchant House - in order to receive and deal with the newly created interests on the southern shores. 242f to be passed over.

Nex Week One, Xemela's Holy Day

I refused the second of the Freni transactions. We docked the pay of the Open Trading Group on the grounds of tax law.

Nex, Week Four, Day Before Holiday

Received package containing money, with attached receipts saying it's from Alendra Ferrier, some Otkorioni farmer and 100d from mutton interests purchased by Oldrin of Tortun.
